The Power of Lyddite.

It is a very difficult problem to ascertain the numerical superiority of lyddite over other explosives. It is certainly six times more powerful than nitroglycerin, which in turn is at least eight times more powerful than the same weight of gunpowder. Further, all experience shows that its effects are spread over a much greater area than in the case of nitroglycerin or dynamite, which are intensely local in their action. It has been frequently erroneously stated that lyddite or melinite may be used as a substitute for cordite or gunpowder in propelling a projectile. Such could not be the case, however, as the explosion takes place so rapidly that the chamber of the gun would be inevitably shattered.

Probably one of the greatest advantages of lyddite is its absolute safety to handle, which we can realize when we recall its use in the arts for over a century without its powers being even suspected. In this respect, combined with its superlative destructive capacities, lyddite approaches an ideal explosive for shells, and it is safe to predict that it will play an extremely important part in the great military operations of the future.—Chambers' Journal.

Mother Love Conquered.

A pathetic incident which happened recently in this city shows that a strong will can sometimes do more in combating dread disease than all the skill of the medical fraternity. An entire family, consisting of both parents and four children of tender age, was stricken with malignant pneumonia. The wife was apparently the worse sufferer, and her case was given up by the doctors as beyond hope. Meanwhile her husband became suddenly worse and died. Everything that medical science could do had been done for the wife without avail, and after consultation the physicians decided to take a desperate risk and tell her of her husband's death, reasoning that the shock might kill her, but also might arouse her ebbing strength and assist in checking the coma which was already presaging dissolution.

The experiment was tried, and when the devoted mother learned that her death would leave her children without a protector, her mother love aroused her last energies and she not only survived the great shock of her life partner's death, but she actually recovered.—Philadelphia Record.

The Evolution of the Steamship.

When it seemed that the limit had about been reached with wrought iron as the main reliance of the designer, mild steel had been so perfected as to enable progress to be maintained. The large boilers necessary to withstand the high pressures and furnish the power for high speeds would have been impossible but for mild steel, and the same thing is true of the moving parts of the engine. It may be noted also that workmanship had improved, and the use of antifriction metals for bearings, combined with this improved workmanship, enabled the high rotational speed to be carried out with safety and reliability.

The machinery of Wampanoag, designed in 1865, was so heavy that only 3.24 i. h. p. per ton of machinery was obtained. The San Francisco, one of the earliest of the modern cruisers of the United States navy in which advantage was taken of all the factors for reduction of weight, obtained 10.63 i. h. p. ton of machinery.—Commodore G. W. Melville, U. S. N., in Engineering Magazine.

Six Months In a Bath.

Life in a bath must be somewhat monotonous, but it is quite common in the best of our modern hospitals. At first it was tried only in a few absolutely hopeless cases, but the results were so satisfactory that various forms of disease are now systematically treated by continuous immersion in water.

Some time ago, for instance, a young girl was dying from a complication of terrible diseases. She was a mere shadow, and nothing but death was before her under ordinary treatment. But an ingenious doctor placed her on a sheet and sank her into a warm bath, so that only her head remained above water. The bath was kept constantly warm, and in it she ate, drank and slept for 183 days and nights. At the end of the time she stepped out fat and strong.

In skin diseases the continuous bath is invaluable, for it can be medicated, and many hopeless cases of burning have been successfully treated in this extraordinary way.—Exchange.

Coronets.

The coronet of a duke consists of alternate crosses and leaves, the leaves being a representation of the leaves of the parsley plant. The princes of the blood royal also wear a similar crown. The state headgear of a marquis consists of a diadem surrounded by flowers and pearls placed alternately. An earl, however, has neither flowers nor leaves surmounting his circlet, but only points rising each with a pearl on the top. A viscount has neither flowers nor points, but only the plain circlet adorned with pearls, which, regardless of number, are placed on the crown itself. A baron has only six pearls on the golden border, not raised, to distinguish him from an earl, and the number of pearls render his diadem distinct from that of a viscount.

Change of Climate In Asia.

Professor Muschketoff records the fact that observations at eight glaciers in the Caucasus extending over a period of eight to ten years show that they are steadily receding. The termini of the glaciers are retreating from 9 to 38 meters every year.—American Geographical Society's Bulletin.

She Recalled an Instance.

"Mrs. Peddicord," said that lady's husband, "did you ever say anything that you afterward regretted saying?"

"Certainly. I said 'Yes' once and have been sorry for it ever since."—Detroit Free Press.

TEA TABLE ETIQUETTE.

Quaint Customs Once Observed by English Dames.

Tea drinking has become very fashionable among us of late years, almost as much so as it was in England a century ago, but the prevailing customs at the table are different. The "teacup times of hood and hoop" had their own etiquette, of a sort not likely to be revived. What should we think now of a fashionable lady who cooled her tea with her breath? Yet Young says of a certain bewildering Lady Betty:

Her two red lips affected zephyrs blow
To cool the Bohea and inflame the beau,
While one white finger and a thumb conspire
To lift the cup and make the world admire.

Again a passage in contemporary literature shows that it was a lack of good manners to take much cream or sugar in one's tea. Says a lady of quality to her daughter; "I must further advise you, Harriet, not to heap such mountains of sugar into your tea, nor to pour such a deluge of cream in. People will certainly take you for the daughter of a dairymaid."

Certain other customs may be remembered in this country among us who had grandmothers trained in the ceremonies of a later day. One of them consisted in putting the spoon in the cup to show that no more tea was desired; another was that of turning over the cup in the saucer for the same purpose.

Etiquette also demanded that the tea should be tasted from the spoon, and that the hostess should then inquire, "Is your tea agreeable?" Certain scrupulous old ladies ask that now, and the question savors of a more sedate and gentle day than this.—St. Louis Republic.

AN EXPENSIVE EXPERIMENT.

The Head Bookkeeper Finally Balances His Accounts.

A south side man who is a clerk in one of the leading banks on this side of the river was in a communicative mood last night. During a conversation about various things he took on a retrospective air and said, "There is nothing like the faithful discharge of one's duties, but it is sometimes an expensive experiment."

On being questioned as to the cause of the remark he replied: "Well, it reminds me of an experience I had while employed in a prominent Fourth avenue bank. I don't mind telling it to you. The head bookkeeper was a character in many ways. Method was his hobby. He had a way of doing everything, and he never varied from the rules he set down. Exactness in his accounts was a particular fad, and he spared no pains in carrying his ideas into effect. One afternoon in balancing our books it was found he was short 1 cent. We searched and searched, but when it came to the usual time for going home that cent was still missing.

"Do you think the head bookkeeper would allow us to go? Not much. Several of us had engagements we wanted to fulfill, but it made no difference. Supper time came, and we were no further ahead than when we started. Headed by the bookkeeper, we repaired to a neighboring restaurant for supper and then returned to work. After several hours the missing cent was found and the accounts balanced. But in figuring up it was discovered that in searching for the discrepancy of 1 cent the bank had incurred a bill for suppers to the amount of $7.50."—Detroit Free Press.

All American Children.

"Do you not have trouble with so many nationalities?" the spectator asked of the principal of a large school in the crowded tenement part of the city. "Oh, we hang the flag over the school platform," was the answer, "and have the regular exercise of saluting it, and the children become very patriotic indeed. They will not own, in most cases, that they are not Americans." "Yes," said the other teacher, "I often ask, 'Will the German children in the room stand up?' The Germans are more wedded to their fatherland, apparently, than other immigrants, for a few—though not by any means half—of them usually rise to this invitation. 'Now let the Italian children stand,' generally brings no response at all, though the school is crowded with them in my district. But when I end up by saying, 'Will the American children stand up?' the whole school rises joyfully."—Outlook.

As to Providence.

A country parson went to see a humble parishioner and, if possible, to comfort him some little under heavy trouble which had befallen. The pastor found the homely old man in his desolate cottage alone. He said many things, and added that he must try to take all affliction humbly, as appointed to us by Providence.

"Yes," said the good old man, who was imperfectly instructed in theology, "that's right enough, that is. But somehow that there old Providence have bin ag'in me all along, but I reckon as there's one above as'll put a stopper on he if he go too fur."—Baltimore News.

Wanted Them All.

Julia Ward Howe was once talking with a dilapidated bachelor, who retained little but his conceit. "It is time now," he said, pompously, "for me to settle down as a married man, but I want so much. I want youth, health, wealth, of course, beauty, grace"—

"Yes," said Mrs. Howe, sympathetically, "you poor man, you do want them all."

The right leg is far more subject to accidents than the left. It has been found that the ratio is about 13 serious accidents to the right leg to three to the left.

The practice of kissing under the mistletoe is of very ancient origin, as it dates from the days of the Druids, when no doubt it had a religious meaning.

HUMOR OF LUNATICS.

A SANE MAN'S EXPERIENCE IN AN INSANE ASYLUM.

By the Time He Got Through Being Fooled by the Inmates He Was Ready to Distrust Even the Superintendent of the Institution.

"I never knew until I went out to California this time that insane people have a powerful sense of humor," said a Washingtonian who recently returned from a trip to the coast. "I confess that I've always found a morbid sort of interest in going through noted insane asylums, and so I armed myself with the proper credentials in San Francisco and went up to Napa county to have a look over the splendid asylum for the insane there. Inasmuch as I wanted to see a few things without the attention of a guide, I didn't present my letters, but just rambled around the beautiful, spacious grounds for awhile. I hadn't spent three minutes examining the extraordinary rose gardens in front of the main asylum building before a tall, slender young man, well dressed and exceedingly well groomed, emerged from a clump of oleander trees and approached me.

"Taking a look around, eh?" said he to me.

"'Yes,' I said. 'I only arrived here a few minutes ago, and I'm taking the liberty of nosing about without any official guidance.'

"'Well,' the tall young man said, pleasantly, 'I don't suppose I fall out of the classification "official guidance," seeing that I am the assistant superintendent here, yet I should be pleased to show you about and at the same time try not to place any restraint upon you by my awe inspiring presence.'

"Well, the young chap's manner was so pleasant and winning that I could only thank him for his kindness, and we started over the grounds. We hadn't gone far before a middle aged man, also well dressed and well groomed, appeared some distance in front of us down the gravel walk, and he beckoned to my companion. The young man excused himself courteously and went up to the middle aged man. The two conversed earnestly together for a few minutes, and then, linking arms, what do they do but coolly walk off, leaving me standing there in the middle of the gravel path, a good deal nonplused.

"'Surprised over the way they deserted you?' said a voice right back of me. 'You mustn't mind a little thing like that, though. Both of those men are as crazy as loons.'

"I turned around, and there, standing behind a hedge about ten feet to my rear, was a little old gentleman, neatly dressed in black, and with a quizzical smile on his features.

"'Surely,' I said, 'you cannot mean that that rational speaking, pleasant mannered young man who was conducting me about the grounds is bereft of his wits?'

"'Mad as a March hare,' repeated the old gentleman flatly. 'Incurable case. Harmless, but incurable. The man that he went off with is also a very sad case—very. Thinks he is the Maharajah of Budblud, or something like that. But you mustn't mind 'em. Lots of visitors are taken in the same way. If you care to, I'll just show you around. I am one of the board of visitors of this institution and just happen to be here in my unofficial capacity today.'

"Much marveling over what the old gentleman told me, I fell in with him, and we rambled around the huge geranium arbors, and finally entered the enormous glass building where the cultivation of violets is carried on.

"'Nice array of flowers, isn't it?' the old gentleman inquired of me, waving his hand at the beautiful beds of violets in bloom. 'I am not inordinately vain, my friend, I hope you will understand, and yet I cannot but congratulate myself upon the introduction of this violet raising feature here, for I myself was responsible for it and only succeeded in having this hothouse constructed after enormous exertions with the authorities of the institution.'

"I congratulated the old gentleman upon the result of his labors and was just about to ask him to take me into the main building and introduce me to the superintendent when he suddenly excused himself, saying that he had left his spectacles on a bench in the gardens and would be back directly. I waited for him for fully ten minutes, but as he did not return I started on out of the glass building.

"'You didn't really expect him back?' I heard a voice say, and then a pleasant faced man, dressed as a laborer and carrying a watering pot, came from behind a group of palms. He spoke with a Scotch brogue.

"'The old gentleman you were with is very bad up here,' said the man with the watering pot, touching his forehead. 'He's been here for 20 years, and he fancies he owns the place. I am the head gardener here, and he tries his best to run me. But he don't—no, sir, he don't. He can't. No crazy man can run me.' And the Scotchman went down the length of the raised violet beds, watering the plants.

"I passed out of the glass building and started for the entrance to the main building, there to present my letters. As I was about to walk up the steps to the entrance a man with side whiskers and rather a sharp, piercing eye walked up to me.

"'You have business here?' he inquired of me in a rather sharp tone. Well, I thought he might be another of 'em, and so I kept right on. He followed me up the stairs and into the office, and I had to hand my letters to him. He was the superintendent. He smiled when I told him of my experience in the grounds.

"'Which of them was really insane?' I asked him.

"'All of them,' he replied."—Washington Star.

"The Best Laid Plans."

"When I was a young fellow, I was a dreamer," said a benevolent citizen. "I thought that my greatest pleasure would be to give money to the poor and live a life of simple, unworldly devotion and gentleness. That was when I was about 20.

"At 25 I came into some money rather unexpectedly. The first thing I did was to give a dinner. I got tipsy—the first time in my life. I had a fight with a waiter and nearly punched his eye out. I was arrested and had to be bailed out by my lawyer. The waiter sued me for damages, and I was so angry with him and myself and the downfall of my great ideals that I refused to compromise as my lawyer advised. The waiter lost most of his savings in fees and expenses, and his family came wailing to ask me to pay his doctor's bills and help him get a position and they would drop the suit.

"I came to my senses and did more than that for them. My old ideas, modified and modernized, took hold of me again, and while I am a hard headed business man today most of my friends are poor people. But my first use of money shows how flimsy the pedestals of most ideals are and how foolish it is to say what we would do if we could."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Climate and Wool.

While all parts of the United States are not equally well adapted to the production of mutton there is no country in the world so self contained—no country that has within its borders such a variety of complementary resources. The highest economy in the application of these, however, can only be secured by an understanding of the special uses of special areas and the more or less exclusive appropriation of such areas to these best uses. The United States lies chiefly within the temperate clime, and doing so the ability to produce wool bearing animals is one of its heritages. Too great heat produces hair alone, while too great cold produces a kind of combination of wool and hair called fur. The mean of these conditions is the desirable one for sheep, and consequently we find them most numerous and serving the most useful purposes in the temperate clime.—Live Stock.

Cottonseed Meal.

Cottonseed meal cannot be fed to hogs, since it is almost sure to lead to disease if fed for more than five or six weeks. I do not know of any cases in which, when cottonseed meal has been used for steer feeding, that the droppings of steers so fed have proved injurious to hogs. Begin with not over two pounds per head daily, in addition to corn and roughage, and at no time allow the quantity of meal fed to exceed five pounds if the best results from its use are sought. The droppings should all be carefully saved, as they are very rich in the elements of fertility.—W. A. Henry.

Southdowns.

Southdowns are prolific breeders and mature earlier, perhaps, than any other sheep. They will make a pound of flesh with as little food as any other or less, and more of it on the most valuable part of the carcass, and hence they command a higher price.

A Woman's Answer.

She (confidingly)—I feel like a perfect wreck.

Her Dearest Friend (sympathizingly)—You look it.—New York Sun.

Some naturalists are of the opinion that the whale was once a land animal, and that it was forced to take to water as a means of protection.

"Oh Promise Me!" At some time in her life Cupid pleads in every woman's ear, and when that time comes it is a woman's duty to think twice before she answers. She should think once for herself, and once for the man who has chosen her for his life companion. If she is suffering from a torturing, dragging weakness or disease so prevalent with her sex, she has no right to answer "Yes" until her health is restored. If she does, she will be wretched and ill herself and her home will be an unhappy one. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific remedy that cures all weakness, disease, disorder and derangement of the delicate and important feminine organs. It is not a "cure-all," but a medicine devised to correct this one class of disorders and no other. It has accomplished its purpose in tens of thousands of cases, as is shown by tens of thousands of testimonials of the grateful patients themselves. It imparts vigor and virility to the entire womanly organism, and is the best of all nerve tonics and restoratives. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. It transforms weak, nervous, despondent invalids into healthy, happy women.

"I was so weak I could scarcely walk about the house," writes Mrs. Mattie Scruggs, of Allen's Creek, Amherst Co., Va. "Was reduced to a mere skeleton. I was never free from pain in the back and head and could not sleep at night. I bought three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of 'Pleasant Pellets.' After taking these six weeks I felt like a new person; slept well and gained in flesh. I am doing all my own housework and we have nine in the family."

A man or woman who neglects constipation suffers from slow poisoning. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. All medicine dealers sell them. No other pills are "just as good."

United We Stand. Divided We Fall.

THE Healdsburg Lodge of Odd Fellows has entered the race to secure the Odd Fellows Home for their town and has appointed a committee consisting of Brothers E. Teauffe, T. J. Coffman, J. B. Prince J. L. Bates and F. W. Cooke to take the matter in hand. We are sorry to make a note of this. Now, as Sonoma was the first town in this county to move in the matter we were in hopes that the Odd Fellows Lodges all over the county would get in and assist their Sonoma brethren in their efforts to bring the institution here. There are a dozen counties in this State striving for the Home and if this county expects to carry off the prize in the face of this competition Sonoma county Odd Fellows should get together and choose as between Sonoma and Healdsburg. In unity there is strength. There is no sense or reason in two Sonoma county towns competing against each other to secure the Home, as we will have our hands full in wresting the prize from the other counties in the State.

We submit, that as the Sonoma Odd Fellows were first in the field and the people of this town the first to organize to secure the prize the Healdsburg Odd Fellows ought to show their brotherly love and stand aside for Sonoma in this matter. If they will do this Sonoma stands to win. If they refuse, this county will not stand a ghost of a show in getting the Home. United we stand. Divided we fall.

E. J. BORLAND, the printer, who lost his life on the ill-fated steamer Chilkat, which was wrecked in Eureka harbor last Tuesday, was known to several people in this place. He worked in the Sonoma News office for several weeks last Fall. He was an enthusiastic bicyclist and when he left here he rode out of town on a wheel which he had to accept from his half starved employer in payment for his wages. That wheel is now in Petaluma awaiting its owner, who will never return to claim his property.

BURY the croaker out in the woods in a beautiful hole in the ground where the bumble-bee bums and the woodpecker pecks, and the straddlebug straddles around. He is no good to the folks of the town to trust, too unpractical, stingy and dead, but he wants the whole world and part of the crust and the stars that shine over his head. Then hustle him off to the place of the dead, and bury him deep in the ground, he's no use to us here, get him out of the way and make room for the man who is sound.—Ex.

AMONG the bills pocketed by Governor Gage were several affecting the Home for Feeble Minded at Eldridge, which were introduced by Senator Sims and passed by the Senate and Assembly. These bills were as follows: Appropriating $20,000 for cottages, $8500 for improvements and $37,500 toward completing the main building of the Home. The Governor in killing these appropriations has done a great injustice to one of the most humane of our State institutions.

THE members of the Board of Supervisors had a good deal of fun at the expense of Constable T. B. Wilson of Cloverdale on Tuesday, says the Santa Rosa Republican. Mr. Wilson came down to see his bill "through the board" and returned a happier and richer man than he anticipated. In making out his bill he made an error in favor of the county amounting to over $11. Of course the error was unintentional and the Board kindly allowed him the amount he should have applied for. Mr. Wilson was duly grateful and declared he could afford to take eleven Supervisorial "joshes" at a dollar the "josh."

THE weather the past few days has been the warmest of the season, the thermometer registering 90 degrees in the shade on Thursday and Friday.

The Odd Fellows Home.

The Sotoyome Sun wants the Odd Fellows to choose Healdsburg as the site for their Home. Very commendable in you, Brother Keene, in looking after the interests of your town, but Sonoma is going to get that Home sure if location, soil and climate count for anything with the committee chosen to select an eligible site. It were a waste of time and energy on your part to pit Healdsburg against Sonoma in this matter. Our people are pulling together to secure the prize and when it comes to the natural advantages offered by our town for the Home there is no competitor in the field that can hold a candle to us. However, Brother Keene, we can congratulate you on your soon becoming a benedict. But as to the Odd Fellows Home—why you ain't in it.—Sonoma Index-Tribune.

Don't count your chickens before they are hatched, Brother Granice. Healdsburg will take a hand in the game and nothing but a show down will determine who holds the winning suit. When it comes to location soil and climate, Healdsburg defies the State, and that is saying nothing of our pretty girls, well preserved old maids and interesting widows. In that particular we defy the world. As to becoming a benedict, well, Brother Granice, you must catch him before you can hang him.—Sotoyome Sun.

Now, Brother Keene, Sonoma has got all that Healdsburg claims in so far as soil, climate and location are concerned, and as to the gentler sex, we can double discount you—you horrid man. Sonoma has those self same interesting widows in abundance and a profusion of pretty girls (the darlings), but as to old maids—how dare you—why, there isn't one in all the Sonoma valley. What do those "chawming" well-preserved creatures of Healdsburg look like anyhow?

A Few Questions and One Suggestion.

TO OUR WEALTHY CITIZENS:

If a laboring man can't find employment how is he to pay his honest debts?

If the local moneyed men will not invest at least a portion of their cash where their town and fellow citizens will be benefitted where is any benefit to be derived from?

What has hindered the advancement of this city in previous years? this city, whose only attractions are its climate and age—the former of which may be found in numerous other places, and the latter of which wouldn't be likely to cause many folks to settle here.

As the fruit season approaches, and before it is entirely onto us, why couldn't our moneyed men get together and establish a fruit cannery where we Sonoma boys could find employment, for a short time at least, and the Sonoma Valley farmers find a home consumption for their produce? Will a moneyed man please answer these few questions.

A WORKINGMAN.

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA will generally correct this difficulty.

If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk, if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

ONCE in a while a good thing comes along: Here's one says an exchange: A duck, a frog, a hog and a skunk, all wanted to get into the theatre, of course to see the show, which cost a dollar. The duck had a bill, and got in (he must have been an editor); the frog had a green-back, so he gained admittance; the hog had four quarters and managed to pull past the box office after depositing them, but the skunk was left. He had only a (s)cent, and that was a bad one.

Future of the Bicycle.

It is agreed by all bicycle manufacturers that the 1899 models represent the perfect wheel, and that in future the silent steed will be practically what it is to-day. Improvement seems to be impossible, as the bicycle accomplishes everything that is required of it. Precisely the same thing is true of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It represents the limit of science in overcoming disease, and it is impossible to make a better medicine for the stomach, liver, kidneys and blood. A few doses of the bitters will start weak, nervous and bloodless people on the road to strength. A regular course of treatment will bring back the pink to the cheeks and sparkle to the eye. Sleep will come naturally, and it will be refreshing and healthful. Dyspepsia, indigestion and constipation will be completely banished, and the blessings of true health bestowed. Never take a substitute for this perfect remedy.

THE SUPERIOR COURT

In department one Monday morning Judge Dougherty had the following matters on his calendar:

Letters of administration were issued to Teresa Cole on the estate of John Cole, in a bond of $300; Eliza Matthews on the estate of George J. Matthews, in a bond of $300; M. G. Silva on the estate of M. G. Silva, in a bond of $1800.

Letters of guardianship were issued to Harriet A. Allen on the estate of Mary C. Allen, in a bond $3500; J. C. Ingalls on the estate of Chester A. Ingalls, in a bond of $1800.

The final accounts were settled and distribution was ordered of the estates of Maggie McDonnell and Olivia M. Brown.

The matter of the sixth annual account was dismissed in the estate of Mary Clara Tivnen.

These probate and civil matters were continued: Estates of Ella C. Wade and John A. Gryff, Ella L. Thomson vs. W. G. Griffith, Chas. Smith et al. vs. White Wolf et al., and Weddle vs. Leach, all to April 10th.

In Judge Burnett's department the arraignment of John Connell, charged with an assault with intent to commit rape, was set for April 10th.

The action of J. B. Endicott vs. Martha Brown was submitted and taken under advisement.

An opinion was filed in the action of the Healdsburg Electric Power Company against the City of Healdsburg, sustaining the demurrer.

These matters were continued: Ellen L. Ferguson vs. Frederick Theissen et al., California Winemaker's Corporation against John L. Alton, George Jacobs Jr. vs. W. G. Griffith et al., all to April 10th.

The demurrer in the action of Thomas Forster against Mark L. McDonald was withdrawn, and the defendant allowed to April 21st to answer.

The action of John F. Sims against the Petaluma Gas Light Company was set for trial on May 2nd. This suit is to recover damages for an alleged breach of contract.

The action of George Ullrich against Edward Sprague to compel the abatement of an alleged nuisance caused by defendant's boneyard on the Petaluma road, was set for trial for April 27th.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

The Board of Supervisors convened at the Court House, Santa Rosa, last Monday to transact their regular monthly business, Chairman Frank B. Glynn presiding, and Supervisors Gallant Rains, H. W. Austin, Joseph A. McMinn and T. C. Putnam being also present.

Numerous petitions for the changing of school district boundaries and for the creation of new districts were heard and passed upon by the county fathers.

The petition for the creation of a joint school district between Sonoma and Mendocino counties and located in Supervisor Glynn's district, was granted. The district will be known as "Tanbark."

The petition to change the boundaries between the boundaries of Geyserville and Washington school districts was disallowed.

The petitions to change the boundaries in Watson and Meeker districts and Russian River and Starr districts were accepted.

The petition to create a new school district known as "Los Almos," in the Pine mountain country, was continued to next December. A public hearing was given the matter.

The District Attorney was instructed to inform the Board as soon as possible, in writing, of the changes in the law regarding the duties of the Supervisors as a Board or as Road Commissioners in Sonoma county.

TUESDAY.

At their session Tuesday the Board of Supervisors considered road bills and informally discussed a number of county matters. Chairman Glynn presided, and all the members were in attendance.

Among the bills allowed were these: Charles H. Ohm, constable fees, $44.25; T. B. Wilson, same, $59.95; G. W. Morgan, salary, $50; T. J. Blanchard, same, $50; W. T. Leggett, same, $55; T. J. Ferguson, same, $55; W. B. Pool, constable fees, $7.40; J. C. Ingalls, same, $6.80; George M. Brush, same, $24.35; F. M. Collins, same, $21.70; Chris Mason, same, $4 20.

Several needy persons were granted immediate relief. The indigent list for the month of April was passed. The list contains one hundred and seventeen names this month, a reduction of several from last month.

The bills of Road Commissioners were passed as follows:

Road Commissioner Gallant Rains—Petaluma road district, $362.10; Sebastopol, $296 29; Marin, $44.37; Forestville, $87.03; Bloomfield, $165.30.

Road Commissioner H. W. Austin—Russian River road district, $212.16; Santa Rosa, $398.52; Fulton, $416.

Road Commissioner T. C. Putnam—Penngrove road district, $182.80; Lakeville, $110.50; San Luis, $133,87; Agua Caliente, $200.69; Glen Ellen, $147.25.

Road Commissioner Joseph McMinn — Cloverdale road district, $115.25; Knight's Valley, $142.97; Washington, $160.01; Mendociho, $345.74.

On motion of Supervisor McMinn, seconded by Supervisor Austin, the District Attorney was requested to furnish the Board with an opinion as to whether the bills for clerical work in the District Attorney's office are legal claims against the county of Sonoma.

NOTICE TO Non-Consenting Land-Owners.

OFFICE OF THE CLERK OF THE Board of Supervisors, Sonoma County, California, Santa Rosa.

To Frank Tate:

The petition of M. P. Akers et al., citizens of San Luis Road District, having been presented and duly filed in the office of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of Sonoma County, California, on the 14th day of January 1899, and on the 7th day of February, 1899, an order was duly made and entered by said Board of Supervisors appointing Newton V. V. Smyth, County Surveyor, James B. Morris and Anthony D. Graham, viewers to survey, locate and lay out a public road on the lands of Frank Tate in San Luis Road District, Sonoma County, California, in accordance with the prayer of said petitioners, and said road viewers having performed the duties assigned them by said order of Board of Supervisors and made and filed their report on the 6th day of March, 1899, and said viewers reported said survey as follows to wit:

Beginning at the most southerly corner of the tract of land deeded by Thos. S. Cooper, Administrator of the Estate of James Cooper, to Frank Tate, December 4th, 1871, and recorded in book 37 of deeds, page 226 of Sonoma County Records. Thence North 33° West 0.38 chains. Thence North 68° East, parallel with the Southeast boundry of said tract of Tate and with the Northwest side of lane described in said viewers report 76.00 chains a little more or less to the easterly line of said Tate's land and the center of Sonoma Creek. Thence southerly along said easterly line to the Southeast corner of said tract and the northerly line of said lane. Thence westerly along the northerly side of the lane to the point of beginning, containing 2.81 acres of land, and for a more particular and minute description of said proposed road reference is hereby made to the viewers report and "Profile" now on file in this office. And in pursuance of the prayer of said petitioners and the matters aforesaid, an order was duly made by said Board of Supervisors on March 11th, 1899, to notify and require all parties interested in and to any lands or premises through which said proposed road is surveyed and laid out to appear before said Board of Supervisors on the 7th Day of April, 1899,

At 1:30 o'clock P. M. at their rooms in the City of Santa Rosa, or as soon thereafter as the same can be heard by the Board, and show cause, if any you have, why said proposed road should not be declared a public highway, and in default of such appearance or cause shown, you will be deemed to have waived all claim for damages herein, and the Board will proceed to declare said proposed road a public highway according to law in such cases made and provided.

In witness whereof I have hereunto affixed my hand and official seal this 21st day of March, 1899.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

THE BICYCLE RACES.

Theodore Kiser Defeats Edward Kelso, Steve Akers and Bert Jones.

The bicycle contest between the crack local wheelmen of this valley, which took place on Broadway last Sunday afternoon, attracted a large number of the friends and admirers of the contestants to the racing grounds. The contestants were Bert Jones, Steve Akers, Ed. Kelso and Theodore Kiser, all of whom are local crack-a-jacks. The first race was a quarter-mile spurt between Kelso and Jones, which was won by the former.

The second race was a half-mile dash, the contestants being Steve Akers and Theodore Kiser. This race was won by Kiser. The third and last race was between the winners of the first and second race, Messrs. Kiser and Kelso. Young Kiser came out ahead, thus winning the short distance championship of Sonoma Valley.

Trout Fishing.

There was too much water in Sonoma Creek last Saturday and Sunday for good trout fishing. The fish were there all right, but refused to take the delusive fly of the city nimrod or the much despised angle worm of the local fisherman. In consequence fine catches were few and far between. In about another week fishing ought to be good in all the streams in this valley, as by that time the waters will have so receded as to force the trout into the pools and riffles, when they will readily take the hook it matters not whether it be an artificial fly or an angle worm that dangles at the end of the same.

Weather and Crops.

The weather the past month has been all that the farmer could desire to ensure a big hay and grain crop and a fine yield of fruits of all kinds. There has been gentle showers, warm sunny days, and what is more remarkable for the month of March there has been no frosts and winds worth mentioning. In fact this valley has been blessed with ideal weather so far this season, and the vineyardist, orchardist, farmer, dairyman and stock-raiser are in high feather at the bright prospects ahead.

D. S. Walker, lineman of the Sunset Telephone and Telegraph Company, was in town Monday and Tuesday repairing the company's wires.

THE BOARD OF CITY TRUSTEES.

Still Grappling With the Water Question.

The City Pavilion to be Given a Coat of Paint—Other Matters.

A regular meeting of the Board of City Trustees was held Wednesday evening. Trustees Duhring, Seipp and Harris were present and Trustees Davis and Hartin were absent owing to sickness.

After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read and approved the following bills were allowed and ordered paid:

D. Valente, cleaning fire apparatus	$9.00
P. G. Keil, changing hydrants	4.00
Wm. Green, lumber	7.66
Wm. Trudgen, building culvert	8.25
H. H. Granice, printing	7.80
J. E. Robin, salary, etc	16.30
J. D. Wagnon, repairing roads	13.00
Sonoma Electric Light Co., light	34.75
H. Munfrey, labor	1.00
Total	$101.76

The Street Committee reported the repairs and improvements on Fourth-street East as completed, also as to the condition of sidewalk around Sonoma Valley Bank building. The committee recommended that the same be remedied, and were instructed to interview the bank officials in regard to the matter.

The Plaza Committee was instructed to advertise for bids to paint the pavilion, and to repair and paint the roof thereof. The bids are to be segregated and will be received up to Tuesday, April 11th, at 8 o'clock P. M. at which hour the Board will meet to consider the same.

A communication from the National Monument Committee, asking President Duhring to arrange for a celebration on May 1st, 1899, to be known as "Dewey Day," to raise funds for a National Monument to the martyrs of the Maine, and the sailors, soldiers and marines who died in the service of the United States during the war with Spain, was read by Clerk Poppe. The communication was filed and the Clerk instructed to furnish the local papers with a copy the same.

The Clerk was instructed to have 300 assessment blanks printed at the INDEX-TRIBUNE office.

The application of the Sonoma City Water Company for a franchise, which was submitted at the special meeting held March 27th, was then considered, and the following amendments to the application for a franchise were submitted to the company by the Clerk:

One—Free water for all municipal purposes.

Two—Absolute sale of wells and well sites. Well sites to embrace land of a radius of at least twenty feet around wells and right of way for pipes and of ingress and egress. Work to begin within thirty days after franchise is granted and to be pushed energetically and continuously until the system is completed. System to be completed within four months after granting franchise. A storage tank or reservoir will not be insisted upon now, but the Board of City Trustees reserves the right to require the erection of the same if in their opinion it be deemed necessary hereafter. Thirty hydrants or stand pipes to be placed as directed by the Trustees, the cost of the same to be paid by the water company and in case of purchase of the system by the city to be included in the purchase price. Fire tanks to be erected as required by City Engineer's report. If the water company desire to have a conference with the Board they are invited to have such conference at an early day.

The Board then adjourned.

Forty-Five Dollars Lost and Recovered.

Giavonni Dimarco of San Francisco lost $45 on Sunday afternoon last. The purse containing the money lay in the street all the afternoon, without being noticed by scores of pedestrians who passed over the spot where it lay. Late in the afternoon Mr. Dimarco discovered his loss and after a search of a half hour or so was overjoyed when he discovered the purse, which was wrapped in a small piece of cloth, lying a few feet from the curbing in front of Oliveri's store.

Off for Europe.

Capt. P. N. Stofen and his daughter Miss Meta Stofen of San Francisco have left for Germany to settle up the affairs of the $25,000 or $30,000 estate which Mrs. Stofen recently inherited through the death of a relative in Amsterdam. During their absence Mrs. Stofen and Grandma Thiessen, her mother will sojourn in Santa Rosa. Capt. and Mrs. Stofen have a host of friends in this valley who will be pleased to learn of their good fortune.

"THE TERRIBLE SWEDE."

Pleads Guilty and is Sent to Folsom for One Year.

Adolph Lindblom, alias "The Terrible Swede," who assaulted Jim McGuffin in the northern suburbs of town on Sunday of last week, plead guilty last Saturday morning to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and was sentenced by Judge Burnett to serve one year in Folsom prison.

Justice was quick and sure in this case. Lindblom assaulted McGuffin on a Sunday. The following day he took to the hills with a double-barreled shotgun and was brought to bay and arrested by Constable Ohm, who lodged his man in the Santa Rosa jail Tuesday to await his preliminary examination before Judge Cheney in this place last Friday. He was held over on the afternoon of that day to answer to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Saturday he received his sentence of one year and on Sunday he was landed in the Folsom State Prison.

SHOCKING DEATH.

Nick Nissen the Victim of a Runaway Accident.

Nick Nissen, the well-known Swiss dairyman of Sonoma mountain, was thrown from his buggy in Petaluma on Wednesday evening of last weeek and died a few hours afterward from his injuries. The Petaluma Courier gives the following account of the fatal accident:

"Wednesday evening Nicholas Nissen, the well-known pioneer and owner of the DeLaval creamery on Sonoma Mountain returned from San Francisco on the 5:30 train, having gone to the metropolis to attend the funeral of a relative who was accidentally killed. A few hours after his arrival here he lay cold in death at the home of his brother on Seventh street, the result a disastrous runaway. How the accident occurred will probably never be known, for nobody can be found who was an eye-witness. Herman Nauert, while driving home about 6:30, found Mr. Nissen lying unconscious in the middle of F street, between Fifth and Sixth. He was lying in a big pool of blood and blood gushed from his right ear and mouth. His horse ran away and threw him from the buggy. He passed away at 9 o'clock, death being due to a fractured skull."

FRIEND McHARVEY.

The Young Soldier Writes About His Experience in and About Manila.

Friend McHarvey, of this place, aged 19 years, who enlisted in Battery K, 3rd U. S. Artillery, last summer and who is now stationed at Caloocan, near Manila, writes to John Valente of his experience in the Philippines. We take the following extract from the letter:

"We are having a fine time here now. The way the bullets fly just sounds like a lot of buzzing bees and makes one feel funny at times. You ought to have been here and seen the way we done up those "niggers." We made them run so fast that I imagine they are running yet.

"The American loss up to the present time, February 25th, is about 60 killed and 365 wounded, while the loss of the Filipinos is way up in the thousands. We killed between fifty and sixty wild men who were perfectly naked. They had long hair hanging over their face and down their shoulders and were armed with bows, arrows and spears. I tell you they were a hard looking lot of people.

"The next place we are going to capture is Malabon and I think we will lose a lot of men in taking the place, but many a native will never live to tell the tale. We have been told as soon as we have cleaned out the rebels we can go home. Gosh we won't do a thing to them. We will shoot them so full of lead that they will sink when they hit water. I will tell you about my gun. It is a 30-caliber, shoots two miles and carries a steel bullet that travels after it leaves the muzzle of the rifle a mile in three seconds."

HEALDSBURG WINS HER WATER SUIT.

The Anti-Bonders Knocked Out in the Superior Court.

Judge Burnett Decides That the Bond Election Was Legal.

On the 28th of last March the City of Healdsburg voted on the proposition to bond the town for $80,000 for the purpose of acquiring, constructing and maintaining a complete system of water works and an electric lighting plant. The bonds were carried almost unanimously.

Shortly after the election an action was commenced in the Superior Court by certain self-interest parties to restrain the City Trustees from issuing the bonds, the ulterior motive being to harass the Trustees and thwart the will of the people as expressed at the polls.

On Monday Judge Burnett, in whose department the suit had been commenced, rendered an opinion in the case, sustaining the City Trustees and dissolving the temporary injunction issued at the commencement of the suit.

Judge Burnett in his decision sums up the case as follows: "I have examined carefully all the points cited by plaintiff. I have not deemed it necessary to review them in detail. They are distinguishable from the case at bar.

"It is undoubtedly the rule that elections should never be held void unless clearly illegal. It is the duty of the court to give effect to them if possible.

* * * Plaintiff has not satisfied me that the proceedings in the present instance were irregular, nor that the authority of the Board of Trustees had been transcended in any respect."

Healdsburg will now be enabled to go ahead and construct its water system and lighting plant, while those who have hampered its wide-awake and progressive people in their laudable purpose to improve their town can go off and bag their heads in shame.

New Business Enterprises.

Several new business enterprises will be started in this place between now and the 15th inst. F. W. Beeler, formerly of Napa, will open a market and delicacy store next door to the Sonoma House. Mrs. Ellen Glynn, the owner of the property, has a force of carpenters at work fitting up the premises for her new tenant.

Frank Thierkoff of Glen Ellen has leased Bulotti's saloon building on Napa street, the interior of which is being newly painted and papered. Mr. Thierkoff will have his opening day some time this month.

A new barber shop will be opened next door to the Sonoma House in the building recently vacated by W. E. Landgrebe.

In addition to these new enterprises there is talk of a furniturne store, a new drug store and a harness shop.

SONOMA INDEX - TRIBUNE.

H. H. GRANICE, Proprietor.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, APRIL 8, 1899.

Notice of Business Change.

The old saying that "the unlooked-for always happens" may be true in the present instance. The Sonoma News is no more! Having sold the paper and its good will to Mr. Granice, the business and subscription books pass into his hands. Those who are in arrears for their paper will please pay Mr. Granice and those who have paid in advance will receive the INDEX-TRIBUNE to full extent of their subscriptions.

There are three reasons I might give for making this change. It is well known that I did not buy the News with the intention of running it myself. A person usually sells a commercial commodity when the price asked is accepted. The third reason is the more potent one—our patronizing territory is too limited to properly support two weekly newspapers.

But we do need and must have for the weal of the commonwealth one good, wide-awake paper, which shall be alive to the best interests of our people, and such a paper Mr. Granice will be able to furnish us providing he has the good will and support his paper merits. So we sincerely hope all our subscribers and patrons will lend a hand.

With a thank you to our friends and wishes for the success of the INDEX-TRIBUNE we break our quill.

E. E. THOMPSON.

Sonoma Jan. 3, 1899.

What Shall We Do.

A serious and dangerous disease prevails in this country, dangerous because so deceptive. It comes on so slowly yet surely that it is often firmly seated before we are aware of it.

The name of this disease which may be divided into three distinct stages is, First, Kidney trouble, indicated by pain in the back, rheumatism, lumbago, frequent desire to urinate, often with a burning sensation, the flow of urine being copious or scant with strong odor.

If allowed to advance, this reaches the Second stage, or Bladder trouble, with heavy pain in the abdomen low down between the navel and the water passage, increasing desire to urinate, with scalding sensation in passing, small quantities being passed with difficulty, sometimes necessary to draw it with instruments. If uric acid or gravel has formed, it will prove dangerous if neglected.

The Third stage is Bright's disease.

There is comfort in knowing that Dr. Kilmer, the great kidney and bladder specialist, has discovered a remedy famous for its marvelous cures of the most distressing cases and know as Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

It is sold by all druggists.

As a proof of the wonderful virtues of this great discovery, Swamp-Root, a sample bottle and book of valuable information will be sent absolutely free by mail on application to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, New York. When writing kindly mention that your read this liberal offer in the SONOMA INDEX-TRIBUNE.

To-Night and To-Morrow Night.

And each day and night during this week you can get at any druggist's Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs, acknowledged to be the most successful remedy ever sold for Coughs, Croup, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption. Get a bottle to-day and keep it always in the house, so you can check your cold at once. Price 25c. and 50c. Sample bottle free.

FARM AND GARDEN

MEXICAN JUNE CORN.

Advantages From Its Wonderful Aerial Root System.

The Mexican June is an interesting variety of corn and The Rural New Yorker gives an instructive story about it, in which occur the following items, with illustration:

A second planting was made the last week in May. After the plants were well up all were destroyed but two.

Liberal dressings of nitrate of soda, sulphate of potash, wood ashes, bone flour and horse manure were made from time to time. Our object was to find out how tall this corn could be forced to grow. During the season of 1897 the stalks grew to a height of 13 feet, and this in a rather poor soil under ordinary field culture. The nodes or leaves averaged seven inches apart, the old leaves averaged about four feet long and four inches wide. It will be seen that such plants would give an immense amount of foliage per acre. The following table will show approximately the rate of growth from week to week:

July 25	5 feet high.
Aug. 2	7 feet 5 inches.
Aug. 9	8 feet 8 inches.
Aug. 16	9 feet 11 inches.
Aug. 24	11 feet 8 inches.
Sept. 11	13 feet.

Our next measurement was not until Sept. 27, when the taller plant measured 14 feet, the other being nearly the same height. After this it made a growth of, perhaps, six inches when frost occurred. The tassels began to shed their pollen upon the silks of three sets, the uppermost of which was 10 feet above the soil. The lowest set was eight feet above the soil. There were nine whorls of aerial roots, eight of which are shown in the cut, the highest being four feet above the soil. The longest leaves were five feet in length and four inches in width.

We have raised this variety of corn for three seasons, and while all other kinds were more or less lodged by high winds not a plant of the Mexican June was broken or bent from a perpendicular position. This is readily accounted for by its wonderful root system and the elasticity and toughness of the stalks, which resemble so many bamboo fishing rods. Following are some notes with which some of our readers have favored us, which will show how the Mexican June corn conducted itself with them:

Charles Macon of Ingleside, N. C., writes under date of Sept. 22: "I have two rows of Mexican June corn. The stalks will average 10 feet in height—some of them 18 feet. They have fair sized ears that I think will mature—they are about half matured now."

Mr. Benjamin Buckman of Farmingdale, Ills., as early as Sept. 13 wrote: "The tallest stalks of the Mexican June corn have reached the height of 14 feet, and if we have two weeks of warm weather the cars now showing will produce seeds that will grow."

The lower whorls of aerial stems send out as many fibrous roots as does the main stem itself, and these unquestionably absorb nutriment from the soil. Hence it is fair to suppose that the Mexican June corn will thrive in poorer soils and during severer droughts than other varieties.

A Five Rowed Corn Marker.

"Nine times out of ten you will plant a hill of corn in a track made by the horses if marked with a two or four rowed marker, where if marked with a three or five rowed marker you will never plant in the horse track, and a five rowed marker will mark on rolling or uneven ground as well as level ground, if made like the inclosed plan," says an Ohio Farmer correspondent. The plan is lettered thus: A, 2 by 4; B, 3½ feet long; C, ⅜ rod hinge; D, 2 by 4; E, 1 by 4; F, 2 by 4.

"My marker marks five rows. The runners are 3½ feet long, made of 2 by 8 plank, with 2 by 4 crosspieces, notched in runners and spiked. The hinges are made by boring a hole through the 2 by 4 crosspieces and then putting a three-eighths rod through them. The tongue pieces can be put on to suit, for a sleigh or a wagon tongue. If the outside runners do not make a plain mark, I spike a block of wood on them for a weight. Farmers should make these things when they can get time, and not wait till spring work is rushing them."
